THE CONFIDENTIAL PAPER.

The Briton Complaints, Praeles and Sequels In His Daily Journal.

The newspaper is a member of the family in England and regularly comes to breakfast with the other members. The London Times is a kind of oldest son among newspapers, and Punch the jolly bachelor uncle, who makes occasional visits. Englishmen take their newspapers into their confidence and have a half way of writing to them on all sorts of subjects. If an Englishman rows down the Thames and stops for luncheon at an inn and is overcharged, he writes to his newspaper, just as a little boy runs in to complain to his mamma of the rough treatment of his playmates, and later on the first letter is followed by others, in which the comparative merits and cost of light-echos on the continent, in Seringapatam, in Kamtschatka and everywhere else where Englishmen have eaten and drunk—and where have they not done these?—is discussed at length. If horses stumble and fall in Rotten row, there are letters on the subject which go into the matter of roadbuilding, animal horsemanship and the like, with quotations from Virgil and anecdotes of accidents that happened half a century ago. Not only the more serious weekly, but also the daily newspapers, give one the impression that they feel themselves to some extent responsible for the contemporary auditing of the accounts of the day of judgment. On the other hand, the better class of English newspapers do not indulge in rash suppositions, hasty generalizations, uncertain guesses at probable future happenings and the daily exploitation of the personal affairs of notorious nobodies. And one may be permitted to say definitely that perhaps this is preferable. If Mr. Balfour, for example, were to go abroad for a holiday, it would be considered vulgar to chronicle his doings and dinings and absolutely brutal and boorish to write particulars of the dress and behavior of his sister, or his wife, if he had one. The sense of fair play of a nation of sportsmen does not permit an editor to torment even his enemy from behind a woman's petticoats.—Price Collier in Forum.

A Question of Recognition.

Miss Kitty—Mamma, will we know folks in heaven same as we do here? Mamma—I think there is no doubt of that, my dear.

"Will I know Jane Goppings?"

"Is Jane Goppings?"

"She's the big frank girl that lives over the grocery store down the street."

"If you are both good enough to go to heaven, my dear, you will certainly know her."

(After some moments of profound cogitation) "I won't have to speak to her, will I, mamma?"—Chicago Tribune.

A Fine Foot.

The elderly gentleman was getting a pair of shoes, and the clerk was striving to please.

"You have an elegant foot, sir," he said as he smoothed the leather down across the instep.

"Um," snuffed the old gent, eying him narrowly, "I guess you ain't the chap that was coming to see my daughter over other night till last week."

A Clever Dog.

Mr. Stacy Marks' successor of the money finding dog, which he attributes to Linsdean, is a very prince among all stories of the kind. The dog's master, in the presence of a skeptical friend, hid a 25 cent in the hole of a tree when the dog was paying him no attention. "Go, fetch!" he said, some time afterward, while returning by another road, without further explanation.

The dog trotted off, and it was a few hours before he joined the two at home.

As there were no signs of a note, the skeptical friend grew satirical. But the host opened the dog's mouth, and 5 sovereigns were concealed under his tongue. He had found the note, been to the banker's and exchanged it for gold.—Speculator.

SENATORIAL DEADLOCKS.

The Legislature of Idaho met on the first Monday in January and is still balloting for United States Senator. It is composed politically of thirty-seven Republicans, fifteen Populists and two Democrats. There are two Republican candidates for United States Senator and one Populist. The Republicans are Shoup, one of the present Senators, and Sweet, the present Representative. The Populist candidate is William H. Claggett, who was a member of the Territorial Legislature of Nevada, and subsequently Delegate in Congress from Montana. Mr. Claggett was elected to the United States Senate from Idaho four years ago, but, because of alleged informality on the part of the Legislature, was refused a seat by the Senate. The vote for the three candidates stands about 18 for Shoup, 17 for Sweet and 15 for Claggett. So far the Legislature has done little, if anything, but vote for United States Senator.

The Legislature of Oregon stands 72 Republicans, 11 Populists and 8 Democrats. There is a deadlock on the Senatorial question. Dolph, whose term will expire on the 1st of March, is a candidate to succeed himself. He is a gold trust and corporation Republican of the most pronounced type, and is supported by the railroads, navigation companies and money powers generally of Oregon. Though he leads in the race for Senator, he lacks a few votes of the necessary majority, and the independent Republicans emphatically refuse to vote for him, though doubtless enough of them will support him in the end to elect him. The opposition to Dolph has not concentrated on any one man, though Herman, one of the Representatives of the State in Congress, is in line with the independent Republicans and has a good record as Congressman.

The Senatorial question is the all-absorbing one in those two States. No business of importance is transacted in either Legislature and is not likely to be until Senators are chosen, proving that where one party has an overwhelming majority in a legislative body, wranglings and dissensions are as liable to occur as when no party has a majority, as was the case in Montana and Wyoming two years ago.

THE REVOLT AGAINST BOSSISM.

The revolt against political bossism in San Francisco, which resulted in the election of Governor Budd and Mayor Sutro last November and the conviction of a few of the "stuffers" in the courts, is one of the hopeful signs of the times. Public meetings have been held in the city by business-men and others in which resolutions have been adopted appealing to the Legislature to stand by the people in this hour of their extremity and appoint a non-political investigating committee for the purpose of inquiring into the truth or falsity of the charges of corruption, malfeasance and political prostitution now rife in the community, to the end that innocent individuals may be vindicated, the guilty punished and the way laid open to municipal reform.

At a meeting of the citizens held last Saturday night thousands pledged themselves never to cast another vote for any member of the Legislature who might vote against a bill authorizing the investigation and creating a commission to make the investigation. A message from Senator Perkins was read at this meeting in which he said: "The political boss is a tyrant and the people, regardless of party, ought to terminate his rule." Merchants, ministers of the Gospel and professional men are taking a prominent part in these meetings, and it does not seem possible that the Legislature, in the face of public opinion, will refuse to pass an Act creating a non-partisan investigating committee and empowering it to send for persons and papers and go to the bottom of the charges of corruption now so rife in San Francisco.

UNIVERSITY DORMITORIES.

Assemblyman Pitt of Humboldt, who, by the way, is one of the most active and energetic members of the Legislature, has introduced a bill to appropriate $38,000 for building and furnishing dormitories for the students at the State University. It provides that the money shall be appropriated from the school fund and in its place thirty-eight bonds of $1,000 each shall be deposited. The bonds are to bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum and to mature in twenty years from date, but shall be redeemable after two years at the option of the State. The bill provides for levying and collecting a tax of one and one-fifth cents on each $100 valuation of taxable property to go to the University Interest and Sinking Fund for the payment of the interest and principal of the bonds.

The Elko Independent, whose editor has been County Superintendent of Schools, and a practical teacher in the public schools for years, calls attention to the fact that there was on the 1st of January, 1895, $78,615.89 lying idle in the school fund and that this money can be put to no better use than the building and furnishing of the necessary buildings for the use and benefit of the boys and girls of the State.

The proposed amendment to strike the word "male" out of the suffrage clause of the State Constitution was defeated in the Assembly yesterday by a vote of 17 to 12. Compte not voting.

SOME FACTS ABOUT BONDS.

The Sale of Bonds by Debtor Nations Barely Brings Gold From Abroad. The Administration expects to sell most of the next issue of bonds in Europe, and claims by so doing to turn the tide of gold this way and restore confidence among the people. This Administration as a prognosticator is a total failure. Every prediction made by it has been reversed, and this last one of selling bonds to Europe to replenish the stock of gold in this country will prove a great disappointment.

When the war indemnity to Germany was due from France it was supposed Germany would receive an enormous amount of French gold. The indemnity amounted to 4,980,860,349 francs, or nearly one billion dollars. The German people did not understand the financial situation and expected that France would have to part with her treasure. Now let us see how France paid this war indemnity to Germany. Bills of exchange on the German bank are throughout the German empire paid 3,064,931,180 francs, equal to nearly two-thirds of the entire indemnity; bills of exchange drawn on other countries nearly made up the balance, and all the French gold that the Germans received from France on the indemnity was less than $45,000,000.

Under the great Refunding act of July 14, 1870, the issue and sale of $1,500,000,000 of United States bonds was authorized, and during the period of refunding and increasing the public debt, from 1863 down to 1877, there was not a single year but what the exports of gold from the United States was largely in excess of the imports. (See statistical abstract of the United States for 1893, page 71.)

With these practical object lessons in full view of the Administration, it seems very strange that they should predict that the sale of U. S. bonds in Europe will bring gold here. If the eastern bankers would inform Mr. Cleveland how much gold is due Europe, subject to the demands of the Europeans, it might enable him to see that it would be just as well to sell the bonds in New York as it would in London. In either case the Europeans would get the bonds, and buy them with gold that is already within the boundaries of the United States.

REMARKS.
Reno, February 8, 1895
A MONSTER PETITION

It Contains Four Million Names and is Thirty Miles Long.

Mrs. Matilda B. Casse has left Chicago for Washington with a petition signed by four millions of men and women of fifty countries. The signers pray all civilized Governments to abandon all protection or recognition of the liquor traffic and the opinion trade and totally prohibit both within their respective jurisdictions.

The huge document if unrolled and joined in a single sheet would measure thirty miles in length, and it weighs half a ton.

The petition is sent to Washington that it may be displayed at the White Ribbon Convocation which will open there next Friday under the auspices of the World's National and District of Columbia Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The hall of the convention is to be draped and festooned with a few miles of the petition and the remainder will be set up as a monument in the hall.

WHAT CHIEF ARTHUR SAYS.

All Danger of a Strike at an End. Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers says that all chances of a strike and all dangers of a difficulty between the Southern Pacific and the engineers is now at an end. He said that mutual concessions had been made and only details are required to be arranged. Arthur will start east next Thursday stopping enroute at Los Angeles.

An Impostor.

A man quite decently dressed and wearing a Grand Army button and claiming to belong to other organizations has been working the town for a couple of days. Sunday morning at about 7 o'clock he strolled into Wm. Johnson's Arcade saloon and after exchanging the time of day, etc., with U. Church, who was on duty, he ordered a drink, paid for it and then walked to the rear of the saloon and seemed to be admiring the pictures on the wall. He then stepped into the hallway in the rear, grabbed Church's overcoat, which was hanging on the wall, and made a dash for the back door. Church saw him in time and gave chase, following him through the alley in the rear of Commercial Row as far as Center street, where he caught him and recovered the coat. Not seeing anyone whom he could call to his aid Church allowed the fellow to go, and the fact that he has not been seen since leads to the supposition that he jumped the town.

IN AMERICAN ITALY.

Fiesta de Los Angeles—A Week's Carnival.

Under the snow capped peak of cold baldy, and in the beautiful city of Los Angeles, Cal., the annual Fiesta de Los Angeles takes place this year from the 15th to the 20th of April, with elaborate pageants descriptive of the fascinating history of the great West. The central idea for the spectacular portion of the carnival this year is properly designated the "Pageant of the Pacific" and magnificent floats, designed by skilled artists, will picture events and national customs and manners in the story of the Pacific countries of two continents, from Pizzaro in Peru to the Pueblo Indians in Arizona and New Mexico, and from the Mission Padres to the splendid civilization of the present. The carnival continues for a week, with a varied program of splendid interest. There would not be a pleasanter time of the year for a visit to Southern California. Nature is then at her best, and in the midst of the pictures past with its strange races of people and costumes of barbaric splendor, contrasted with the livish outpouring of the magnificent resources of the present, no one could fail to be alarmed and interested. The carnival this year will be on a scale of artistic beauty that will rival the famous events of this kind in the world.

"Hes! Hes! H. H. S! Rab! Rab! Rab! High School!"

This cry may have startled some of Reno's quiet and order-loving citizens at an early hour Saturday morning but if it did it is to be hoped that they turned themselves with a smile and a sigh on their comfortable pillows, and muttering, "It's only the boys and the girls having a good time," resigned themselves to sleep and dreams of their own "lost youth," the happy, thoughtless youth that can come but once.

Friday evening the Senior Class of the High School, with Professor and Mrs. J. E. Bray and Mrs. Doten, enjoyed a thoroughly good time, the occasion being in the nature of a candy pull at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Snare, some two miles west of town. It being rather beyond walking distance, Master John Chisum not only volunteered as the "jehu" of the trip, but furnished horses and conveyance as well. The latter, a huge hay wagon, well covered with hay upon which crowded a merry party as one could wish to see.

Notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads the trip was made with safety, and the desired goal reached. Then came the fun of the evening; jolly games, and candy making, pulling and eating, till all cried "enough, enough!" But in the opinion of the hospitable entertainers, the candy was not enough and all were bidden to seat themselves at a table beautifully spread with dainty and substantial eatables to which they paid as much attention as if not already surfeited with sweets. At the conclusion of the repast Professor Bray in behalf of himself and the other guests, in fit and well chosen words, thanked the kind host and hostess for the pleasant hours they had entreated all to enjoy.

Then came the ride home, certainly not the least of the enjoyable features of the occasion. Everything was covered with the featherly snow, which was still falling, and in the dim moonlight an added beauty seemed given to the willows as they bent gracefully under their burden, as well as to the slightest weeds, and to the arching trees. And when the latter, incited thereto by some of the mischief-laden of the party, scattered the snow liberally over the occupants of the wagon, great was the merriment therat. So with song, with jest and laughter, home was reached; and in the calendar of all who composed the party a white mark will be set opposite the date on which took place the Senior's happy candy pull at Snare's.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A large assemblage of people besides the members crowded the Assembly chamber, including numerous ladies among whom were Mrs. Col. Hardcastle, Mrs. Governor Jones, Mrs. ex-Governor Adams, Mrs. ex-Governor Colcord, Mrs. ex-Senator Rickett, Mrs. Robt. Grimmon, Matron of the Orphans' Home, Mrs. Lucy Williamson of Austin, Mrs. Mile Tupper Maynard of Reno, and the wives of Assemblymen Coryell, Hinman and Flannigan.

After being called to order and roll call, on motion the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, with Hogan in the Chair, to consider the resolution to strike out the word "male" from the qualifications for voters in the State Constitution.

The resolution was read and then commenced the grand controversy regarding the resolution to strike out the word "male" from the qualifications for voters in the State Constitution.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Beck made a brief speech in presenting three petitions in favor of the measure, one from the Reno Ogilvie office with 640 signatures, one from the man of Douglas county very unanimously signed, and a similar one from the eastern part of the State.

By Gregorich, S. B. No. 7—Creating a fire department fund in the various counties of the State. Ordered engrossed.

By Gignoux, S. C. I. No. 8—Relating to the carrying of the United States mail in the several States and Territories; no contract to be let to other than bona fide residents of the county and State where such service is performed. Passed unanimously.

By Wilson, A. B. No. 14—To prohibit the sale of ardent spirits in the State Capitol building—after April 1st, next. Corporations and Railroads.

McNaughton asked for information relative to the workings of woman suffrage in Colorado and elsewhere.

Gorman opposed the resolution and considered Beck a weak man, for he had to get a woman to speak for him.

McDonald said the Republicans should have settled this woman suffrage question when they were on deck and not left it for the Silver party to figure out.

Allen of Eureka was opposed to woman suffrage but would vote for the bill in order to have the whole proposition brought before the people if possible.

Speaker Allen opposed the measure, claiming that the women didn't want it.

Noel made a nice little speech in favor of it, and a vote was taken resulting in the resolution being lost—11 to 17.

The committee arose and reported to the House in regular session adversely to the resolution.

Hogan made a wind-up speech on the subject strongly and eloquently favoring woman suffrage, and the roll call on final passage resulted as follows:

Ayes—Allen of Eureka, Beels, Beck, Coryell, Crisler, Greenwood, Hall, Hogan, Noel, Pitt, Stanley, Wilson—12.

Noses—Briggs, Brockliss, Constant, Court, Denton, Flannigan, Francis, Gorman, Hinman, Ledy, Murphy, McDonald, McNaughton, Russell, Wieland, Mr. Speaker—17.

Absent—Conboie.

And so the woman suffrage proposition was lost, as it doubtless will be in the Senate.

At 4:30 the Assembly adjourned.

A Sad Death.

John Wright, who is quite generally known among the young people of Reno, died Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, just as the sun dropped behind the Western mountains. He had been ill for some weeks with typhoid fever and he had received the best of medical attention and careful nursing, but the dread disease had gotten too firm a hold and the poor young man was called to his long home. John Wright was a general favorite, perfect specimen of American manhood, always courteous and in fact possessing all of the qualities of a popular young man. He was a member of Company C, N. N. G., under the auspices of which the funeral will take place. The funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He had been in the employ of the experiment station of the University for some time, and was highly esteemed by the faculty of that institution.

His brother Thomas, who is an employee at the Asylum, is the only relative in Nevada, the parents, two sisters and four other brothers living in the State of Virginia. The parents were notified several days ago of the critical condition of the son, and were completely prostrated by the news and it is feared that when the news of his death reaches them it will be almost a fatal blow, as they are aged people. It is a terrible blow to his brother Tom, the two boys having been almost inseparable.

BREVITIES.

The San Francisco Mining and Scientific Press says there are 675,000 tons of wheat in California. The loss to the State by the depreciation in the price of wheat for the last three years aggregates $22,500,000.

Harry M. Read, representing Goldman, Levy & Co., is suffering from a severe cold and was threatened with an attack of pneumonia. He was feeling good yesterday and hopes to be all right in a day or two.

E. A. Morrill has just received a splendid line of side-saddles, fine whips, robes, curvy combs and brushes at his shop on Virginia street. Any one desiring anything in his line will do well to call upon him.

Brewster Coffin has just finished decorating the Assessor's office in the court-house and it is an artistic piece of work. It is about the nicest finished office in the building, and Pete Evans will of course be very proud.

The scenery of the Carson Amateur Minstrels will be something new and novel. Revolving scenes will be a feature, as well as calcium lights. The orchestra will consist of twelve pieces of music and will be one of the attractions.

The French line Steamer La Gasconne, which left Havre January 26, arrived in New York yesterday with its steering apparatus disabled. Fears were entertained that the vessel had been wrecked as it was due in New York on the 3d instant.

W. E. Barney, a graduate of the Mining Department of the State University, is assayer for Gold Cup and Flagstaff mines at Delamar, Lincoln county. He left Kennedy about the middle of last December and traveled 400 miles in the dead of winter by private conveyance to Delamar.

Representatives of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific at Washington propose to pay the principal of their indebtedness to the Government if they are relieved from paying the interest. The principal of the bonds amounts to $64,623,512, and the interest to about $72,000,000. The Government has paid the interest and the companies think it can afford to lose the amount.

REED AS A CANDIDATE.

His Platform in 1888, When He Considered His Candidacy as a Joke.
Ex-Speaker Reed seems to be more seriously a candidate for the presidency than ever before. In 1888 he regarded such a possibility as a joke. That year a New England paper declared that the most available men for the Republican nomination were Congressman Reed of Maine, Hiscott of New York and Long of Massachusetts.

"As soon as we saw this," said Mr. Reed at that time, "Long and I assembled ourselves together, held a caucus and agreed that the announcement, so far as we were concerned, was both timely and judicious, but we decided by a unanimous vote that Hiscott was not available for reasons that must suggest themselves to every thoughtful and patriotic man. This action having narrowed the contest down to Long and myself, I suggested, with the kindest and most disinterested motives, that for the sake of harmony he ought to withdraw. He demurred to the proposition and did not appear to take much interest in it until I offered to make it an object to him. I volunteered to pay him $5 in lawful money if he would agree to retire and make a speech nominating me in the presidential convention. He replied that he was not a $5 man, whereupon I raised him to $8. If there is any thing I despise, it is avarice. He replied that he would not withdraw from the caucus and make the speech for less than $15 and was willing to let me write it or would submit it for my approval. This was pretty steep, as Long didn't the slightest chance of getting the nomination and isn't much of a speaker. But I agreed to pay him $5 down and the balance if I got the nomination. But Long said he never did take a contingent fee and never would. So there the matter hangs. If he won't agree to share the risk, he shan't have any of the pences.

"I'm running for the presidency," continued Mr. Reed at that time (this was in the winter of 1887-8), "upon a broad and comprehensive platform, and it I don't get the nomination it won't be because I'm not willing to give satisfaction to people of all colors, races, religious and political views. I believe in giving every man equal rights and a fair show. I believe that it is the duty of congress to pass a judicious silver bill and am in favor of such a revision of the tariff as shall give the capital and labor employed in the manufacturing industries of the country every protection they ask, and at the same time secure the luxuries as well as the necessities of life within the reach of all. I believe that every man, woman and child should receive a pension who is entitled to it; that every just claim upon the government should be promptly and duly paid, with interest to date; that sectional strife should be smothered in fraternal love, and that the dead issues of the war should be decently buried at government expense. I am in favor of applying the principles of civil service reform to all the offices of the government, so as to give entire satisfaction to those who are in as well as those who are out, and that all legislation intended to promote the prosperity of the country should be promptly enacted by congress. On the labor question I am as sound as an oak saw log, and urge upon congress the passage of a bill that will settle forever and set at rest all controversies between the employer and the employee. I believe that the surplus in the treasury should remain unimpaired so far as is consistent with the financial welfare of the country, and that congress should take such action in reference to the finances as will bring the greatest good to the greatest number. I hold it to be the duty of the president to protect the prerogatives of his office, and to hand them down unstained to his successor done up in tissue paper or in a silk handkerchief, and I will further say that, if I have omitted to declare my position regarding any interest representing a considerable number of votes, it shall be my earnest endeavor to amend and enlarge my platform accordingly. The motto on my escutcheon is, 'I strive to please,' and my aim is to merit the approbation and secure the support of all Republicans, Democrats and Mugwumps. I desire to be considered a non-partisan candidate and would prefer that my nomination should be unanimous."
